Both these are, however, confined to gentlemen, owing to the shape of the frame-work; but the former, and one type (there are several) of the latter carry the steering connection parallel with the main tube, so that there is no high bar. Sociables seem out of date in 1890. They would have been in 1888; but at the Stanley Show of 1889, two or three, on a new and improved plan, were shown, and attracted much attention. They reminded one very much of a machine by Markham, at a Stanley Show of many years ago, as a skit on the prevailing craze, as it was then considered, for small wheels. The joke has become earnest, and there is likely to be a good deal heard of the new Sociables, which are rapidly taken up by a number of makers....
