The subject and the mode of treatment are equally adapted for any of these three classes. The scheme of the book is as follows: - Part I begins with the Alphabet and concludes with the Pronouns. Part II. begins with the Verb and closes with the Interjections. Part I., as comprised in the present volume, treats first of the Alphabet and the Article, and then proceeds to give elementary rules for the Gender of Nouns, and the formation of Feminines and Plurals. A complete discussion of the Article and of the Noun is postponed to the second volume. Having disposed of these preliminary matters, the Author proceeds to put Exercises before the student, in order to familiarise him quickly with a number of ordinary phrases and expressions. In this way the learner will make far more rapid progress than if his attention were confined to the mere acquisition of words. He is first taught how to use the few words which he has already learned, and so gradually and almost insensibly led to acquire others. Each Exercise is preceded by a Vocabulary containing the words to be employed in it. The subjects are such as naturally present themselves in daily life, and many points of difference between English and Spanish life are incidentally explained. The Vocabularies do not include Verbs.
